Remedial legislation to eliminate the need for having the 3,000 Newton residents vote in two different polling places, was virtually ordered by the Massachusetts Supreme Court in its decision upholding the constitutionality of the law creating new senatorial districts.

Truman Blast Will Not Slow Momentum of Kennedy Drive

It is unlikely that former President Truman's blast will slow down Senator Kennedy's drive for the Democratic Presidential nomination. Mr. Truman is still personally very popular. He is in great demand as a speaker at Democratic dinners where old-fashioned give - 'em - hell - Harry type of speech is desired. The hard fact, however, is that his influence in the Democratic party has diminished to the point where it is negligible. That was demonstrated at the 1956 Democratic national convention in San Francisco when he made a stop-Stevenson stand and did his utmost to swing the nomination to former Governor Averell Harriman of Stevenson was overwhelmingly nominated on the first ballot. Harriman made a dismal showing, and Colbert To Fly Truman was an almost pathetic figure as his counsel was rejected, his arguments spurned. Elder Statesman Truman now has placed himself in a position where much the same thing probably will happen at next week's conclave in Los Angeles. The ex-President will generate some political steam and add to the excitement of the convention. His fighting statements will be quoted in newspapers around the country. But the delegates, who will be looking to the leaders of the future rather. than those of the past, will pay little heed to his Professional politicians must have chuckled over the protest by Mr. Truman, a product of machine politics, that the coming Democratic convention will not be an "open" one. They know that Mr. Truman's idea of an "open" convention is one at which everybody votes the way he advises them to vote.

The vote of confidence you have given Sylvania by welcoming us as a new neighbor establishes a relationship that promises significant benefits for Newton and Sylvania in the future. The campus-type Sylvania facility will begin to take shape with ground breaking in 1961. Long-range plans call for use of less than 10% of the property, thus preserving the natural beauty of the site. The location will be concerned primarily with data processing techniques, equipment and systems.

The abundance of Newton's communityspirited citizens was graphically illustrated for us during the period that our program was undergoing review.

We are looking forward to working with you to enlarge the opportunities that your vote of confidence has opened for both Newton and Sylvania.

Dear Editor,

As Registrar of Motor Ve nicles and chairman of the Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee, it is once again happy privilege to extend sincere appreciation to you and the members of your publication for the excellent coopera tion given to me in official safety promotion efforts over the July Fourth holiday week-

Fight For Councillor

Merrill In

Alderman Carleton P. Merrill announced this week that he was withdrawing as a candidate for the State Senate but at the same time announced that he would be a candidate for the Republican comination for Governor's Councillor from the new Second District which com-prises all of Newton, Wellesley, Needham, Dover, Ded-ham, Brookline and twentyseven other cities and towns in the south shore area.

Merrill in his statement pointed out that the sweeping changes in the lines of state's Senatorial districts completely eliminated the Middlesex and Suffolk District in which he had proposed to run as a senate candidate. This change now makes the Ward 1 section of Newton, where Merrill lives, a part of the new Norfolk and Suffolk district presently represented in part by the G. O. P. Senator, Joseph Silvano of Brookline. "While I have actively

WASHINGTON, July 13-In 1826 Thomas Jefferson, then 83, had to refuse an invitation to a celebration on July 4 of the 50th anniversary of the signing of the Meyer Davis, 37 Stony Brae Road, Newton Highlands, and

"I should indeed with peculiar delight have met and ex- Louise Rosenberg, daughter changed their congratulations with a small band, the of Mr. and Mrs. Alan S. Rosenremnant of that host of worthies, who joined with us on that day in the bold and doubtful election we were to make for our country, between submission or the sword."

It was indeed a "bold and doubtful election." When the signers declared: "We muof the United States, tually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor," that was literal ly true. The hangman's noose probably awaited them in case of failure. The fourth of July another annual reminder that American freedom was born of sacrifice and faith.

"I am The American Flag" reads in part as follows: Born during the Nation's in fancy, I have grown with it, my stars increasing in num ber as the country has grown

I represent the ideals and traditions, the principles and institutions, the hopes and aspirations which constitute what is to mankind the greatest nation in the world, the American Nation.

Political considerations are likely to dominate the post-convention, pre-election meeting of the Congress in August. The party plat-forms, which by then will have been adopted, will firm up the positions of each party, and sharpen the differences between them. The national election will be just around the corner. Each party will be striving to blame the other for lack of accomplishment at this ses-

With important legislation to be taken up in August, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson will speak with a much more powerful voice at the Democratic convention Congress had finished its work early in July.

An Analysis Of the Kennedy Nixon Vote-Getting Prospects

Now that the Democrats have nominated about as powerful a national ticket as they can put together, the Republicans will assemble next week in Chicago to decide who the running mate of Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be.

Actually Mr. Nixon probably will do the deciding, and the GOP delegates will merely ratify whatever decisin he makes, as the Democrates did in the case of Senator Lyndon B. Johnson.

The Republican convention is likely to be dull and listless by comparison with the conclave of the Demo- GOP Convention crats who managed to maintain a high pitch of excitement and tension right down through the nomination of Johnson as their candidate for Vice President.

The big question from the Massachusetts standpoint is whether Mr. Nixon will pick U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., as his Vice Presidential running mate.

Democratic leaders from around the country privatley expressed the opinion in Los Angeles that Lodge is the strongest and most formidable Vice Presidential mominee Nixon could choose. Some of them went so far us to advance the belief that Lodge might be a more potent Presidential standard-bearer than Nixon.

Nixon will be nominated as Lodge as his companion on the the Republican candidate for GOP ticket. President, and the cold fact also is that what happened in Angeles probably will

The Newton Graphic, Dear Sir:

While we were visiting in Waban on Sunday, our little boy wandered away and was missing for over an hour. For-tunately, he was found safe and unharmed. We want to thank all the people who disrupted their own activities to search for him. Not only our own friends, but strangers, too, went out in their cars. Also, the youngsters in the neighborhood were out looking for him on bicycles and on foot.

The police were wonderfully efficient. They immediately patrolled the MTA tracks, the biggest hazard in the area. We wish to express our gratitude to all the kind, wonderful people who helped so much. Sincerely yours, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Bloom

During the weekend, William O'Brien and Lee Birkowitz discovered that roasted frogs are not very tasty. After a hearty Sunday dinner of un-der-done chicken (thanks to the inexperienced cooks-of-the day), we marched home.

On July 9 we again assembled at the Rangers' shed, drilled, and marched to our camp site where we started our morning work of putting up the lunch tables. Later we had an inspection as to whether we had all our equipment nec-essary for our Colorado trip, and whether it was properly marked. Every item had to be marked with Name, Troop 57, Sec. 29, and Tour Group 143.

What Makes a Milk Company Grow?

We can answer this question adequately for only one milk company—H. P. Hood & Sons—although we suspect that our answer would apply in substantial measure to leading milk companies in other parts of the nation.

Hood started out 114 years ago as a small and rather insignificant business, but its founder was imbued with certain basic principles for the conduct of the business. Prominent among these principles were the concepts of product quality and superior service to customers.

These and other principles like them have been carried on and carried out by succeeding generations of Hood management people, and they are even more alive today than they were in the beginning. Yet, there is nothing about these principles which is unique, remarkable or astonishing; they are available to every company. The trick lies in converting them into action — in making them work.

Our record of growth over the period of 114 years testifies to the fact that H. P. Hood & Sons has made these principles work. Hood has become one of the leaders in the milk industry in New England. But it is also a matter of record that Hood is not the leader in every market in the New England area, demonstrating that other companies also understand such basic principles as quality and service, and are equipped to compete for a profitable share of the milk business.

SIZE OR EFFICIENCY?

Another fundamental aspect of the milk business is its highly competitive nature. Hood has managed to make progress under strenuous competitive conditions, but its progress has been less the result of size — because size sometimes makes a company cumbersome — than the effect of efficiency. As a matter of fact, Hood is relatively small in comparison with many companies head-quartered in other parts of the United States — and Hood competes directly with some of these companies in a number of New England markets.

Competitive efficiency seldom makes a company popular with all of its business rivals. Consequently Hood has, at various times, been charged with engaging in such practices as "price wars". The truth is that Hood has not started price wars, has faithfully observed laws and regulations governing the milk business, and has publicly favored prices which are fair to all concerned.

THE 5 BIG REASONS FOR HOOD'S GROWTH

In a statement of this kind it is manifestly impossible to tell a complete story, but we believe that the major reasons for Hood's growth and progress over the years can be summarized in these five points:

1 Quality Products

From its earliest days, Hood has insisted on top quality in its products. This attitude has been nourished and strengthened throughout the years. Hood spares no expense to bring people pure, wholesome milk and other dairy products at the lowest prices consistent with quality of the highest order.

2 Good Customers

It is no exaggeration to say that our customers large and small (and our small customers far outnumber the large ones) have made us what we are. For one reason or another they seem to like us and to stay with us—probably because we have consistently tried to give them fair prices and the best possible service in addition to quality products.

3 High-Grade Employees

The people who work with us form the backbone of our company. They are loyal and proud of their association with Hood — no doubt because the company has always attempted to be fair with them, to pay them well, and to treat them with consideration in every respect. The "Hood Milkman" is a typical Hood employee. Many thousands of our customers regard him as a symbol of this company, and he is respected and trusted in homes throughout New England.

4 Loyal Farmers

The 4,000 to 5,000 farmers who supply Hood with milk are another bulwark. We endeavor to treat them fairly and to help them in various ways to produce quality milk. And we pay quality premium prices to our farmers to reward them and to assure our customers of a steady, reliable supply of quality milk.

5 Progressive Management

The Hood management team is composed chiefly of men who have been with the company for a long number of years. A majority have come up through the ranks. They are leaders in the company, in the milk industry and in their own communities. They have been trained to apply modern methods, alert thinking and objective judgment to the job of keeping the company in the forefront of progress—in the best interests of customers, employees, dairy farmers and the public.

By unanimous vote the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night denied the application of Morris Kline of 16 Donald Pl., Dorchester, establish a car washing estab-lishment at 25 Needham St., Newton Highlands.

Advocates of spending often rely on "closing tax loopholes" as a way of paying the bills. This problem was before the Senate last month, and its action indicates that the possible additional revenue from this source will not go far in meeting the cost of large new government programs. The ate was considering a tax bill, and amendments were offered to close four of the most criticized loopholes.

One amendment sought to reduce the depletion allowance for oil and gas producers. The income tax laws have long recognized that when ore is taken from a mine, or oil from an oil well, the mine or the well will finally become ex-hausted. The law permits deductions from income to make up for this fact, but they have been criticized as excessive. It was estimated that this amendment would produce additional revenue of $400 million a year. The Senate respected it, 30 in favor to 56 against. The vote of Democratic senators was 22 in

Summer Burglary Alerts Issued In Police Drive

Chief Philip Purcell, of the Newton Police Dept., in conjunction with the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association, today issued a warning against the rise of summer burglary and issued several vital hints to the general public to help combat it.

The announcement is made in conjunction with the observance of Burglary Prevention Week in Mass-achusetts starting July 31 and continuing through August 6th.

especially important when they are away for an evening that involve virtually no ex-

or on a vacation.

Last year, for example, national statistics revealed there were about 75 burglaries every hour of every day throughout the year. Stolen property will probably amount to nearly 68 million dollars. This total becomes even more lock holding an outside porch staggering when we consider only a little more than half usually secured with only the of this property is even re- flimsiest sort of device. It is covered.

Something can and must be done to curb this mence, People themselves can help their police department by taking a few simple steps to discourage burglars.

Chief Purcell went on to say, afternoons are a good time for the burglar to work. Many women go out to visit, attend meetings, or shop, and the professional housebreaker can work undisturbed. Don't make it too easy for him — report any suspicious looking charac-ters, or door-to-door saleswithout proper credentials to your police depart-ment at once. And, always lock your doors when going out, even if for only a min-

However, night time is still preferred by most burglars. Since burglary is a crime of off every evening create a stealth, chances of being seen "lived-in" appearance in the or heard then are usually much less. It's easier for the discourage a would-be burgprowler to tell whether some- lar. one is home during evening hours, too. Light is the burglars' worst enemy and very few will risk entering if a lamp or two are left burning when you leave. They usually won't take the chance and there's always a dark house down the street. But despite repeated warn ings and all that has been written, people will often leave their homes or apartments for an evening at the movies, a weekend away, and even a va cation trip without a thought given to the safety precautions recommended Windows are often left unlocked and without safety latches to keep

This statewide program, | the way, the house is dark, Chief Purcell said, is intended garage doors are left open, to educate homeowners on and sometimes even the front simple precautions they door isn't locked. All the can take to make their homes things that make it easy for or apartments safe from a burglar. McDonough pointed would be prowlers. This is out several simple, precautionpenditures and may you'll come home to every-thing as you left it. Put good locks on all outside doors. It is not uncommon to find substantial jimmy-proof locks on the front and back doors, but with the cheapest possible door. French doors, too are a good idea to look over all doors in your house and see just how secure they are. Windows are usually the weak point in most homes. Screens and storm windows should be hooked on the inside to prevent them from being lifted off their frames Safety latches which per-mit windows to open only part way, sufficient for ven tillation, are also a good idea. Since some burglars are expert climbers, use them on second floor windows, too.

Be sure to leave two or hree lights "on" in the house during evening hours. Timers that automatically turn lamps on and off every day, are available for only a few dollars and are especially useful when a family is away on vacation. Lights going on and home and tend to confuse and

Be sure to stop all deliveries when leaving for a vacation. It is better to call the dairy rather than leave a note for the milkman Burglars can read too. Have the post office hold your mail. It is also a good plan to have a neighbor pick up any circulars or handbills that might be left on your porch while you are gone. People must take some of the responsibility for preventng burglary themselves. By following these simple steps, the possibility of a crime is lessened.

Apprehending the criminal is the job of your police dethem from being opened all partment. But Chief Pur. Please do your part.
